GREEN VALLEY SHOFAR

May/June 2024
Vol. 29 No. 3

President's Message

We have had a lot of simchas to celebrate this past month. I hope your seders were everything you wanted it to be and that BSTC's seder and the sense of community that was felt was rewarding. Thank you, Ricki Letowt and her committee, for organizing it all. Also special thank you to Rabbi Roman and Marlys Fetterman for producing our "beta version" of the Hagaddah. A shout out, too, to Stacy Laetsch for all she did for getting it produced.

We also had the second visit from our scribe, and I hope it was as magical for you as it was for me when I wrote my letters. One of my letters was raish and I was told it stands for ruach, or spirit. I found that especially meaningful because the spirit that I find in our congregation and the spirit I have for BSTC is an important part of me.

As we hear the news from Israel, I know we all look forward to having the hostages home. Pesach is a time when we ask for all who are hungry to come and eat. To know that our hostages couldn't get to celebrate with their family and friends and were, no doubt, worse than the conditions the Israelites experienced in Egypt. The negative pressure that Israel is getting should not deter us from our continued support of Israel, not to mention for Ukraine. I want to thank Kent Blumenthal and his "Stand with Israel" Committee for getting so many writers to send letters to local newspapers. I hope you will also consider writing one to send to Kent's committee. The terrible rise in antisemitism is quite frightening.

It is also a time to support Ukraine as news from that front is so very worrisome.

I wish for peace for us, all America, and the world.

Let us continue this wonderful journey together.

Esther Levine Brill
President

Message from Rabbi Norm Roman

I'm Fasting Today (Erev Pesach)

Written on Monday, April 22, 2024

Dear Friends,

Since I was a teenager, I have chosen to observe the "Fast of the First Born", a tradition that a Jewish first-born son fasts during the day immediately before the First Passover Seder, in sympathy for the innocent children of Egypt who died during the 10th Plague. To me, it is one of the most striking reminders that we are called to acknowledge the suffering of others, even at times when our emotions are appropriately high – whether in joy, sorrow, or even anger . . .

You will undoubtedly read in your Haggadah books tonight and tomorrow, the Midrash that tells of the Angels on High joining with the Israelites in singing "Halleluyah!" and "Mi Chamocha!" as hundreds of thousands of former slaves were miraculously led through the Sea of Reeds while, at the same time, pursuing armies, chariots and horses drowned in the waters. God admonishes: "My children are dying! How dare you sing praises?"

This year's Passover celebration is filled with conflicted feelings – the joy, sorrow and anger that I wrote above, but also concern, doubt, even fear. In Israel, there are still missing hostages to be redeemed, homeless to be returned to their towns and kibbutzim in the South and North, weary soldiers to be strengthened, and mourning families and communities to be consoled. Yet despite what we may presume would be the case after October 7th and the ensuing battles, vengeance is not the motivation driving the sad conditions there, but rather, security and the right (as it was in the Exodus story we retell this week) for Jews to live as a recognized, free people in the Promised Land is the fundamental purpose of this War. Of course, contrary to what many around the world are saying, we care and we are filled with anguish at the loss of lives in Gaza. For the innocent victims and for the soldiers, we pray: May it end speedily!

As well, there is the frightening reality of increased Anti-Semitism in our American society and around the world. Though the perpetrators may be describing their actions as "Anti-Zionism" (not truly understanding what that Movement or even the State of Israel actually is and pledges to be), it is clear that the ages-old lies, canards, ignorance and hatred are once again focusing on the Jews. College campuses seem to be the main targets for protests, and tragically, have even been the locations for physical assaults. Are these demonstrations being led only by those young people who are not completely aware of Hamas' true intentions? Or, as now seems to be the identifiable situation, are well-financed "outsiders" coordinating much of the tension and violence?

Yes, we need to be aware and cautious, but also we need to proudly continue our Jewish lives and traditions. We need to affirm those values and practices which remind us, our children, and all those who are open to listening and learning, that we are here. We care. We remember our history and we retell our stories (as with the Haggadah at the Seder). So, may this Pesach Festival be filled with meaning and purpose for all of us!

[In light of these words, I want all to know how supportive our non-Jewish neighbors and friends have been to BSTC, both formally and informally, during these last several months. From kind phone calls and notes, to respectful Q&A sessions, to participating in our New Torah campaign project, we are very grateful for their responsiveness – the Jewish Community of Green Valley does not feel alone these days.

Finally, please join us and many of the area religious institutions for the National Day of Prayer Commemoration on Thursday, May 2nd. At 4:00 pm, we will gather at Valley Presbyterian Church (2800 S. Camino Del Sol) for an Interfaith Service of prayers and fellowship.]

PROGRAMS

We have documented a new procedure for non-member participation:

Many of our programs cost money to put on, even when we are not serving food or paying a presenter. These costs include the overhead cost of keeping the temple open for the program. We ask that all Temple Committees follow these rules.

1. For ongoing religious events, such as Shabbat services and Torah study, there will be no charge, whether you are a temple member or not.
2. For in-person special programs, such as Passover Seders, Chanukah parties, concerts, movies, classes--a tiered pricing will be established by the program event chair. Temple members will pay one price, while non-members (whether family or friends of members or other folks) will pay a price that is approximately 20% higher. Exceptions must be approved by BSTC president.
3. Programs that are offered on-line (via Zoom, YouTube, etc.) need to include a statement with on-line link stating "If you are not a member of BSTC, we welcome your participation. We ask you to consider making a free will donation, to help us defray our costs. Thank you."
4. The cost of a program, class, event, etc. must not exceed the revenue it brings in.
