GREEN VALLEY SHOFAR

November 2020
Vol. 25 No. 9

President's Message

I can't believe by the time you read this it will be November. These next two months will be very important to BSTC. We will continue to slowly reopen the Temple by adding more outdoor activities that allow members to see one another, at least from the mask up. I pray that this will eventually lead to the resumption of "normal" BSTC activities.

Most important, at the end of November, will be the annual dues notice and election ballot for the 2021 Board of Directors. The punctual return of both will allow us to better prepare to meet the needs of the BSTC membership.

*Ruthann Shapiro,
President*

Message from Rabbi Norm Roman

Dear Friends,

I'm writing this column for the Shofar, after some personal study of the week's Torah portion, Noah. I found some interesting and timely insights from a "D'var Torah" taught several years ago by Rabbi Adam Greenwald, of the American Jewish University in Los Angeles.

Rabbi Greenwald reminds us that this portion (the 2nd in the Book of Genesis, and therefore in the entire Torah) actually contains two disaster stories: the more famous of the two is the story of the Flood, when early humanity's apparent thirst for violence brought about the destruction of the world, save for those on the Ark. The second story is that of the Tower of Babel, when, instead, it is humanity's thirst for power and dominance that leads to the dispersal of mankind to the four corners of the earth.

In the first narrative, God's solution for us is almost-total, but temporary, nonetheless; in the spirit of what we tried to do to/for ourselves during the High Holy Days – to wash the slate clean and begin again. In the second tale, however, God's reaction has more permanent consequences: we are divided into smaller, distinct groups, each with its own language. Apparently, the intention was to prevent (or perhaps, just to delay) humanity's coming together with collective power, until we would have a better, more moral and just sense of responsibility to each other, and to God.

Greenwald continues: "For the first time since the generation of the Tower, we live (now) in a truly interconnected world! Technology draws us closer together and allows us to reach across every political, cultural and geographic divide". And aren't we grateful? Zoom, etc. have literally "saved" us during our present, tragic COVID-19 pandemic. We can, with the click of our keyboards, shatter the curse of Babel, and reclaim for ourselves the ability to come together as family, friends, congregation, class, citizens, and even the entire world!

Today, there is excitement, inspiration and pride in our post-exile-from-Babel world. To merely cite immediate, important examples given our international crises, massive and unprecedented scientific ventures are possible to find cures for disease, work towards re-allocating of resources, explore the origins of the universe, and better the human condition. However, we cannot forget, nor overlook, the dangers that our new era of 'common language' can bring. We have the power to destroy our entire world many times over, we have yet to restructure our reliance on fuels that could lead us to a different kind of Flood. Do we truly have, and are we demonstrating, the heart, spirit and wisdom to properly use our unbelievable powers?

More significantly, in the environment of our American national election, can we end the divisiveness, bitterness, and disunity – where, in a reality so clearly comparable to the Tower of Babel, each 'side' wishes to reach the top while disregarding the human values of the 'other'?

Our Rabbis of old taught in the Midrash: "Some of the (Tower's) builders brought bricks up on one side and came down on the other. If a man fell down and died, not a thought was given to him. But when a brick fell down, they stopped work and cried, saying, 'Woe unto us! When will another be brought up to the top so that we can continue?'"

Can we build, with proper, respectful intention? Or will we tear down? Or will our story be another in the long litany of human tragedies and lost opportunities?

With a prayer for Shalom, and a reminder to VOTE!

After college I taught for nineteen years. I was married in 2004 and we moved to Arizona to retire, or at least try to retire. The marriage ended in 2015 and once again I moved to be near the country and spend time with my grown foster kids. I refer to them as the boys who raised me.

I enjoy music, and the radio, as well as listening to Pod casts all around the world. I will be interviewed next month on November 17th by an international circuit Podcast known as Arden's Day, The Juicebox podcast. The Beth Shalom Temple Center Men's Club will make fresh hand-made bagels on November 8 for the Temple's first Sunday Bagel Breakfast in 8 months.

and Lenny Friedman, contributed taped music and a video for the service. The service was viewed by congregation members both in-person and via YouTube Live.

- ♦ At the October meeting our members voted in favor of making the club By-Laws revisions that were proposed by our By-Laws Review Committee. Committee members' primary focus of the revisions was to update regarding the use of virtual technology to support communications and virtual meetings during times when in-person meetings are not possible or advisable.
- ♦ Lenny Friedman made two proposals at this meeting.
 - 1) That the Men's Club donate $500 to help support the needs of the Jewish community of the Medford-Ashland, Oregon area who were severely impacted by the recent fires. The club discussed and voted to donate $250.
 - 2) That the Men's Club make bagels on the second weekend in November and sell them, as well as cream cheese packets, on Sunday morning, November 8th from 9-11 am. The bagels would sell for a dollar each, or six for $5. Cream cheese 50c per packet. Any profits made from the bagel sale could also be contributed to the Jewish community of Medford-Ashland.BSTC members will need to order the bagels in advance, and can pick-up their order just outside BSTC. They may choose between taking the bagels home, or to bring their own chairs and sit outside so long as they wear masks and socially distance. See flyer here in the Shofar.

Please stay positive and healthy during these trying times!

Interest and attendance in the Zoom programs has declined, so fewer things are planned this month. Please contact Ruthann or Mike with any feedback and/or suggestions for what you may like to see.

MOVIE ON ZOOM

Shown on two successive Wednesdays in October was "The Jewish Americans" by acclaimed filmmaker David Grubin which traces 350 years of Jewish American history, from the arrival of the first Jews in 1654 up to present day. This story told of the struggle of a tiny minority to make their way into the American mainstream while at the same time maintaining a sense of their own identity as Jews.

MESSAGE RE: BSTC EVENING OF IMPROV GALA

In an effort to navigate the ongoing Coronavirus pandemic while keeping our commitment to the health and safety of our members and guests first in our decision making, the possibility of rescheduling our event to May 1, 2021 was discussed with Quail Creek management. It was determined that the feasibility of holding a 300 person event would not be permissible under the Robson social distancing guidelines for the foreseeable future. As a result, this event is cancelled until such time as we can safely spend an evening together with good friends, good food and lots of laughs.

Though refunds may be requested, we hope you will consider, as others already have, converting your ticket purchase to a donation. Please contact Stacy at the Temple: bstcimprov@gmail.com.

Thank you for your continued commitment to Beth Shalom Temple Center.

Contact Mike Finkelstein or Les Bakke with any questions or suggestions, or if you would like to join the Programs committee.

RITUAL

Shabbat services continue at BSTC the first and third Friday nights, and second Saturday mornings, of the month. All members who feel comfortable are encouraged to join us at the Temple. The tables are still down, so there is plenty of room to sit comfortably while remaining socially distanced. Masks are required, and we have plenty of hand sanitizer. Plus, to increase everyone's comfort, a thermometer has been purchased and everyone's temperature will be taken upon entrance to the building.

For those who are not comfortable or unable to attend in person, we will continue to stream our services via YouTube Live.
